OUR TOWN

Now comes a letter from our good friend R. D. Brown calling attention to an error in this column of recent date in which we referred to the Jewish New Year falling on March 25. "Our Town" editor appreciates this correction and passes along Mr. Brown's letter to the many readers of this column:

January 4th. 1926

Friend White:-

I note an error in your paper as to the date of the Jewish New Year, you state, "The Jewish New Year still falls on March 25th." The Jewish New Year is in September and does not come on the same day, for instance in 1924 it was September 29th and in 1925 September 19th and the present year 1926 it will be September 9th.

Yours very truly,
R. D. BROWN

The progress of society depends on nothing more than the exposure of time-sanctioned abuses which cannot be touched without offending multitudes, than on the promulgation of principles which are in advance of public sentiment and practice and which are consequently, at war with the habits, prejudices and immediate interests of large classes of the community. The right of free discussion is therefore to be guarded by the friends of mankind with peculiar jealousy. It is at once the most sacred and most endangered of our rights. He who would rob his neighbor of it should have a mark set on him as the worst enemy of freedom.—William Ellery Channing.

BOARD TURNS DOWN PLEA OF ATTORNEY AND CASE TO ENTER COURT

Attorney E. A. Camp of Rockdale, representing Cameron citizens who reside outside the school district here, will file suit in the District court to restrain the board from collecting transfer fees.

A petition presented to the board by the attorney for the patrons has been refused.

Statements for amounts due have been mailed to transfer patrons signed by O. L. Kidd, president of the board.

The statements say that unless the fees are paid pupils will not be permitted to register for the next term.

A fee of $50 is charged in high school and $32 for the lower grades for all pupils transfering here from other districts.

The right to charge a transfer fee is attacked by the patrons who say the board has no law under which to make the charge. The fee system was inaugurated by the state superintendent and has been in operation for a number of years but no law exists authorizing the charge.

The case will be tested in the courts according to citizens interested.

Jas. L. Coleman informs Reporterman that the business of the Rockdale Furniture Company will be brought to a close on February 1st, and that he and Mrs. Coleman have decided to move to Cameron. Mr. Coleman will be identified with the business of the Cameron Furniture Company, which announces that it has taken a lease on the Hefley building across the street from its present location, thereby more than doubling its floor space The company will add undertaking to its line and will greatly enlarge the scope of its furniture business. Mr. Coleman will have charge of the display work of the company, and will also have entire charge of the undertaking department, which he advises will be established on a big scale, with two complete new funeral outfits. Mr. Coleman's first work will be to make a trip to Detroit to buy the funeral cars.—Rockdale Reporter

EVOLUTION IS DEBATED IN MARLOW MEETING

BIBLE IS DEFENDED IN JOINT DISCUSSION OF DARWINIAN THEORY

Evolution the much discussed subject of science paramount in the controversy between the so called modernists and the fundamentalists who believe in the Bible story of creation, formed the basis of a joint debate at Marlow school last Friday night.

The debating society at the school has entertained a number of discussions this year on current subjects. The society is maintained for the benefit of the school and community.

This subject was a bit indefinite but the speakers lost no time in pitching the tone of debate so as to define the difference of opinion as to the Darwinian theory as it relates to the origin of man as well as other phases of evolution.

A committee to judge the debate of which W. S. Lamkin was chairman awarded the decision in favor of the negative side. The negative side was championed by Edgar Wilson, J. W. Haygood, Mr. Baker and J. B. White.

For the affirmative were Rev. Jackson, teacher and pastor of the school, his daughter, Miss Jackson, M. Boatright and Robert Browning.

Mr. Boatright opened the debate with a splendid talk, advancing his argument for the affirmative. He was followed by Edgar Wilson whose defense of the Bible was excellent. Then followed a series of verbal tilts over the Bible and the phases of evolution brought into the debate by the speakers. Mr. Boatright for the affirmative and Edgar Wilson for the negative closed the debate.

The committee retired and came in promptly with a verdict for the negative.

On Friday night January 29 the subject for debate will be "Resolved that the Federal Government should establish a department of education with a secretary as member of the cabinet." The same speakers will take part in the discussion. The public is invited to attend.

Estimate 700 Cars Half Rate Feed Is Shipped To Cameron

It is estimated that 700 car loads of feed will have been received in Cameron by February 10 on which half freight rates apply, according to those in close touch with the shipments.

This enourmous shipment of feed when taken with the total on which no reduced rates apply, will indicate the enormity of the county's feed bill. It is estimated that at least $30,000 may have been saved the farmers on reduced rates applying on these shipments.

Legion Men Asked To Attend Meeting Here Tues. Night

Commander J. B. White of the American Legion has isued a call for a meeting of the Legion Post to be held on Tuesday night January 26.

AT CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY

"If I knew you and you knew me,
How little trouble there would be
We pass each other on the street,
But just come out and let us meet,
At Church next Sunday.

Each one intends to do what's fair,
And treat his neighbor on the square,
But he may not quite understand
Why you don't take him by the hand
At Church next Sunday.

This world is sure a busy place,
And we must hustle in the race,
For social hours some are not free
The six week days, but all should be
At Church next Sunday.

We have an interest in our town,
The dear old place must not go down,
We want to push good things along
And we can help some if we're strong
At Church next Sunday.

Don't knock and kick and slam and slap
At every body on the map.
But push and pull and boost and boom,
And use up all the standing room
At Church next Sunday.

Always a Wise Investment Now Better than ever before

Dodge Brothers, Inc. have announced astonishingly low new prices.

They have announced important refinements in their product. Always building an exceptional car, they are now building better than ever.

Better in many ways—in beauty, comfort, driving vision, engine smoothness, snap, elasticity and getaway.

The simultaneous offering of lower prices and vital improvements is made possible by a gigantic expansion of buildings and equipment.

Ten million dollars so invested permit great savings through vastly increased volume and efficiency.

Part of these savings goes into further betterment of the car. The other part goes directly back to the buyer—in the form of a price reduction that staggered the industry.

Halted Guns to Save Heroic Mother Bird

One day during the World war I was taking a battery of artillery along a grassy road, a writer in London Tit-Bits relates. The horses were trotting, and behind them the guns rumbled and swayed over ruts and stones.

Suddenly there appeared not fifty yards in front of the leading horses a dozen fluffy brown partridge "cheepers," tiny mites no bigger than sparrows, running hither and thither in the wildest panic before the approaching danger. With them was the mother bird. She chivvied them off into the grass on either side of the road, and then, when the last one had made its escape, turned and with open beak and half-spread wings faced the battery, daring them to come on.

Had the battery not been halted the bird would have given her life in an endeavor to ensure the safety of her chicks. As it was, she achieved her object by a display of real heroism in the face of hopeless odds.

This is a typical example of the way nature makes heroines of animal mothers, no matter how timid they may be when they have no family to care for. In defence of their helpless young, nature's heroines will face any creature that threatens their safety.

MOODY SCORES KLAN IN ADDRESS AT HOUSTON

ATTORNEY GENERAL RESENTS APPEARANCE OF KLANSMAN TO HELP ENFORCE LAWS

(Houston Chronicle)

A sensational thrust at the Ku Klux Klan by Attorney General Dan Moody featured the law and order mass meeting at the city auditorium Sunday afternoon. The meeting, attended by 2,000 persons, was held in celebration of adoption of national prohibition, under auspicies of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

The Ku Klux Klan episode was something not on the program and came as a great surprise. Mrs. J. C. Ross, who was an ardent supporter of Felix Robertson, Klan candidate, in the last gubernatorial race and presided at this meeting here, presided at the law and order meeting. She called the roll of numerous organizations at Sunday's meeting and asked a representative of each to pledge their organizations to law enforcement.

"The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," she finally called.

The Rev. R .W. McCann pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church and an ardent klansman, who sat on the stage, responded. He stated he was a member of the organization and that "the great body of pure Americans stood unalterably for law observance, and if the law was not observed they stand for forcing obedience to the law."

When he sat down it was noticed the attorney general who waged his campaign of attorney general on opposition of the klan, was seen to turn rather pale. He quickly turned to Mrs. M. W. Bains district president of the W. C. T. U., and held a whispered conversation.

When Mr. Moody arose to speak he said:

"I want to preface my remarks by a statement of a personal nature. I do not want to hurt anyone's feelings, but to be honest to myself and honest with you I must make this statement. I did not know that those representing the Ku Klux Klan were to appear here on the platform with me. My position on that subject is well known. I have declared it upon the hustings, I have declared it in the court room. I have been opposed to the activities of the Ku Klux Klan. I want now to reaffirm my opposition to the Klan. I believe all secret, political societies are dangerous to free social order, a menace to democratic ideals and a constant threat against justice. I believe the courthouse is the proper place in which to enforce the law."

It was then time for the Rev. McCann, who is a ruddy faced man, to turn pale and he did a good job of it. He had been greeted by a lot applause when he announced he was a "100 per cent American". It was evident there was a large crowd of klan sympathizers present. The audience only faintly applauded the bold declarations of the attorney general, and McCann did not applaud any portions of the attorney general's speech.

Mrs. W. N. Bains, district president, said Monday the W. C. T. U. would write a letter of apology to the attorney general for the thoughtlessness that caused a Ku Kluxer to appear on the platform with him.

BANKERS HELP

Minnesota bankers played a constructive part in boosting the attendance at the Northwest Dairy Exposition held in connection with the State Fair in September. Five hundred members of the Minnesota Bankers Association received letters from the chairman of the agricultural committee, asking them to assist in forming delegations from their respective communities to attend the show.

The Atlanta, Ga., Clearing House gives the boll weevil no rest. In an effort to effect a concerted and statewide poison war on the boll weevil, this institution sent letters recently to all the bankers in the state asking that they assist in emphasizing the need for a wholesale war on the pest. According to a recent survey poisoning is being done on the larger farms, but not to any appreciable extent on the small farms. According to reports by the Department of Agriculture, the boll weevil infestation is heavier this year than ever before, and if allowed to go unchallenged the crop will be destroyed. Immediate and extensive action is urged.

Over two hundred bankers in Iowa recently made an arrangement to attend the Iowa State University for a two-day period and study farming and farm problems. The bankers will sit as students under the professors in the agricultural department, and will dig right down to the bottom of the many subjects which are of mutual concern to themselves and the farmers. This action on the part of the bankers of Iowa shows a real spirit of interest and a determined intention to understand.

Clark County (S. D.) Bankers, have appointed an agricultural committee of five to aid the county agent in putting across the latter's program of work, with especial emphasis on a ten-acre corn contest and eradication of tuberculosis in the county.

SOCIETY NEWS

BY MRS. JEFF T. KEMP

JENNESS-DENSON

The Cameron Methodist Church was the scene of an interesting wedding at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, January 16, 1926, when Miss Mary Sue Denson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Denson, became the bride of Clifton Jenness, son of Mrs. Ray Jenness, a young business man of Cameron. The impressive ceremony was attended by a large number of interested relatives and friends. Preceding the wedding day, many social affairs had been given in honor of the bride. The romance of the young couple dated from their school days and culminated in the wedding of Saturday with Rev. R. S. Marshall, pastor of the Cameron Methodist Church, reading the impressive double ring service.

Church decorations were confined to the altar space. Plumosa ferns and pink carnations were lavishly used in tall tulle tied wicker baskets and altar vases. Pink maline bows marked the seats set aside for members of the family and nearest friends.

During the pre-nuptial musicale, Mrs. C. W. Bradbury, a recent bride, played Meditation from Thais on the Violin, and Mrs. Alex Triggs sang "Sweetest Story Ever Told", accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Clinton, who also played the wedding marches favoring Lohengrin's for the processional and Mendelsohns for the recessional. During the ceremony she played Marsanet's Elegy. Mrs. Bradbury wore an attractive gown of apricot crepe satin, with silver toque, Mrs. Alex Triggs was handsome in midnight blue georgette and Border Rose hat, Mrs. J. L. Clinton was gowned in poudre blue crepe with becoming French hat. The bride entered with her sister, Miss Dorothy Denson. She wore a bisque three-piece ensemble suit, a special importation from the House of Youth, with a spring model French hat and accessories in harmony. Her bouquet was of pink sweet heart buds with shower of orchid sweet peas. Dorothy Denson, maid of honor, wore a copper colored georgette with a becoming picture hat in tonal harmony and carried an arm bouquet of pink and yellow Madame Butterfly rosebuds. Little Madelyn Tucker in an adorable frock of green georgette, trimmed with ecru lace and tiny pink crepe roses and pink ribbon trimmings wore a pink poke hat and was a most attractive flower girl Master Lane Denson, Jr. of Temple small cousin of the bride, in a nobby suit of brown velvet was the handsome little ring bearer. The ushers were Jack Hearrell of Cameron and Glenn Flinn of State University. The groom was attended by Wiltz McCown of Hearne as best man. Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Jenness motored to Hearne and from that place left for a honeymoon trip. They will make their home at Edgewood in North Cameron, where they have an attractive bungalow completely furnished.

RECEPTION FOR MISS DENSON

One of the interesting events of Thursday afternoon was the reception which Mrs. John L. Denson and her daughter, Mrs. Roy Baskin, gave at the Denson home on Travis Avenue in compliment to Miss Mary Sue Denson, a bride of the week. The inviting interior of the home was made charming with masses of pink blossoms placed against backgrounds of plumosa fern. Misses Aetna Smith, Alice McGehee, Mesdames J. C. Martin, J. C. Tucker, James Baskin, assisted the hostess in making the guests welcome. Little Miss Madelyn Tucker received the cards at the door. In the receiving line were Mesdames J. L. Denson, Roy Baskin, the honoree, Miss Mary Sue Denson, Mrs. Ray Jenness, mother of the bridegroom, Mr. Clifton Jenness, Mrs. T. J. Denson, mother of the bride and Mrs. Lane Denson of Temple.

In the dining room the polished table was laid with a placque floral centerpiece of pink roses and ferns flanked by pink candles in tulle tied crystal holders. Misses Mary and Dallie Young, Pauline Green, Rosalie Baskin, Marguerite Avery of Groveton, Frances Morrison, assisted in serving white brick cream with red hearts and individual cake squares to the large number of guests who called between the hours of three to five o'clock. Souvenirs were fern with pink satin bows. A program of Edison music during the receiving hours was provided by Misses Harriet Flinn and Dorothy Denson.

Mrs. Sallie Phillips has returned from a visit to relatives in Waco.

PRISCILLA CLUB

Mrs. James Watson was hostess to the Priscilla Club on Thursday at 3 o'clock. A delectable salad course was served to the following guests, who were seated with the hostess at the beautifully appointed dining table: Mesdames S. M. Burns, Jr. H. F. Smith Jr. John Mangum, Charles McDermott, Howard Baskin, Walter Newton. Needlework and conversation filled the afternoon hours of the pleasing hospitality.

TUESDAY CLUB

Mrs. S. M. Burns, Jr. was hostess to the Tuesday club this week. White and yellow chrysanthemums in silver baskets were used about the reception suite. With the club members Mesdames George Graves, J. L. Clinton, R. D. Brown, Edwin York, James Watson, J. C. Martin, Conn Miller and Joe Denson found guest cards at the beautifully appointed luncheon the hostess assisted by Mrs. Joe Denson, removed the covers and outfitted the four tables for the games with accessories for the series of auction 42. The table favors, which were gift shade pulls, were awarded to Mrs. J. L. Clinton, J. C. Martin, Edwin York and George Childress Jr. Two new members, Mesdames Geo. Simond and C. W. Bradbury enjoyed their initial meeting with the Tuesday club.

AS YOU LIKE IT CLUB

A delightful meeting of the As You Like It Club had as hostess, Mrs. William Henderson, on Wednesday afternoon at three thirty. Mesdames J. C. Martin, J. M. Ralston, John A. Smith, Conn Miller, R. F. Pool of Sherman, J. B. Sargent of Mart, added to the pleasures of the meeting by their presence. Various contests were entered into with zest. Mrs. T. J. Denson succeeded in writing the names and telephone numbers of sixty friends in a very short time. Each contributed a joke and many laughs went round. The hostess assisted by the two most recent brides, Mesdames C. W. Bradbury and Clifton Jenness served an appetizing salad course. The next club meeting will be with Mrs. George A. Thomas.

Saturday night the little friends of Patsy McGregor enjoyed a slumber party in the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Claude P. McGregor. Games and stunts and a splendid chicken supper were enjoyed by the little hostess. Helen Kenny, Madie Watson, Carolyn Cheeves, Katherine McCown, Frances Hobson and Claudie McGaffey enjoyed the games and delicious supper. Sunday School at the Presbyterian church was attended by all on Sunday morning.

TUESDAY CLUB

On Friday afternoon at 3 p. m. members of the Tuesday club were entertained in the home of the president, Mrs. Charles McDermott. The home was aglow with hospitality and the guests found a beautifully spread luncheon in the dining room awaiting their coming. A bowl of growing white lilies graced the table center. Place cards were arranged for Mrs. S. A. Cottle, S. M. Burns, Jr. B. F. Bonds, Alex Triggs, Fred Caole, Geo. Childress, Jr. and the hostess, Mrs. Charles McDermott.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Deer were made very sad last Thursday because of the news of the death of Mr. Deer's cousin, Mrs. Ebb Leonard of Travis. Mrs. Leonard was buried at Travis Friday.

The same day they received a message of the death of Mrs Deer's grandmother, Mrs. Martha Hooker of Milano. Mrs. Hooker would have been ninety years old April 1st. Interment was in the cemetery at Milano Friday. Fortunately, Mr. and Mrs. Deer were able to attend both funerals because of the varation in the hours for burial.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH SOCIAL

Wednesday evening at the Christian church a dedication and a baptismal service were held. The following new members were baptised: Mr. James Neinast, Miss Bonnelle Neinast, Mrs. E. P. Lovick, Misses Adelyn and Edwardine Lovick and Mildred Moore, Messrs. Hubert Ard, Bennie Archer, G. C. Walters, Jr. and E. L. Reese.

At the business session two new members were added to the board: Messrs. Orba Duncum and James Neinast. Following this a social hour and church jubilation was enjoyed. Evangelist McReynolds conducted a balloon game for the boys in which Frank Adams was the successful contestant. The girls were given four paper sacks to fill and tie and Mildred Moore made high score. The men and women present were lined up against each other and lemons passed up and down the line. This was declared a tie. Mr. T. A. Howell presented a handsome ukelele to Miss Annabel Hall, the talented musician for the meeting just closed. The T. C. U. Evangelist McReynolds was remembered. The ladies and girls served punch and cake and all pronounced the evening a success.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON HOW TO LEAVE AN ESTATE

"Do you know, Aunty," said Helen, as she accepted a cup of tea from Aunt Emmy, "I feel terribly sorry for Mrs. Strong."

"Yes," agreed Aunt Emmy, "it will be hard for her. She is such a dependent, helpless, little thing."

"Oh, I don't mean that," interrupted Helen. "Her feelings are so hurt because, as she says, her husband publicly insulted her by not making her executrix and trustee of his estate."

"Good gracious, child, did she say that!" exclaimed Aunt Emmy, setting her cup down with a bang.

"Yes, she did, Aunty," said Helen, enjoying the sensation she had made and determined to make the most of it, "and I'm sure I agree with her. The idea of that old man appointing a trust company to look after Mrs. Strong's money. It isn't as though there wasn't plenty of it. The Strongs are the richest people in town, I guess."

"Well, for mercy's sakes!" cried Aunt Emmy, disgust in every syllable, "if it don't beat all! You are as big a fool as she is then!"

"What do you mean, Aunt Emmy?" asked Helen with dignity. "I think it nothing short of disgraceful for a man to show that he has no confidence in his wife by putting his money in strangers' hands to be doled out to her as they see fit."

"You never thought that up, Helen," said Aunt Emmy, "that's Mrs. Strong. She always talks as though she was living in a story book, poor, silly, little thing."

Helen blushed and Aunt Emmy went on—"Do you know what it means to administer an estate, especially a big one like Mr. Strong's?"

"Why, no," stammered Helen, "but it must be simple."

Aunt Emmy sniffed. "Simple! Let me tell you a little about it. When a man dies the things he owns cease for a time to be anybody's property and become his estate. The property passes from his control on his death naturally, and as his estate it is controlled and supervised by the Court which will be in charge of the estate for many months probably. First this Court finds out whether or not there is a will and if the will is valid. Then it must find out about the executor. If the will is properly drawn and valid, it will be 'admitted to probate.' The persons who witnessed it must be found and examined.

"The executor must satisfy the Court as to fitness and willingness to perform the many arduous duties involved. Perhaps he will have to furnish a bond, to assure the Court of his financial responsibility. He must assemble all the so-called assets, have them valued and file an inventory and appraisal of them with the Court. All the debts against the estate must be collected. The settlement of all claims against persons and corporations is a job no one without a thorough knowledge of business can undertake.

"In an estate like Mr. Strong's there is sure to be a certain amount of financial negotiation that demands banking knowledge. Then the executor must pay claims against the estate in the order of precedence laid down by law. Also you know state inheritance and federal estate taxes must be met promptly. Finally, after the estate is settled as to claims it has and claims against it, the executor must see that the various bequests are made."

"Oh, Aunty, don't tell me any more. I never thought that there were so many complicated things to be done. Poor Mrs. Strong never knew a thing about business."

"Mr. Strong knew that," remarked Aunt Emmy dryly, "and don't you suppose he had his children in mind, too? He wanted his estate handled so that the children and Mrs. Strong would be protected and assured of a good, comfortable living all their lives, with something to go on to the grandchildren. Even if Mrs. Strong were a business woman, no one could tell how long she would live to administer the estate. He knew that the trust company would not die, nor lose its faculties, nor be influenced by personal feeling so that it might be unjust to some one, and that it represents some of the best business and banking judgment in town."

"Well, I guess old man Strong knew what he was doing!" said Helen.—Anne B. Aymes.

The more recently adopted method of killing the common barberry which spreads black stem rust of small grains is by the use of such chemicals as salt and kerosene, according to the Department of Agriculture. These methods have several advantages over the digging method formerly used. They are less laborious, cheaper and more certain. This is especially true if bushes are growing in stony ground where digging is difficult. Department Circular 356 tells all about how to use this method.—Banker-Farmer.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN

By W. A. Morrison

Being a communication printed in the Dallas News relative to the recent decision of the Supreme Court which invalidates about $100,000,000 in Texas securities.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Archer County road bond case and the dilemma thereby produced has been the occasion of many suggestions and much comment, and in all likelihood the suggestions and the comments have only begun, because this question raises one of the most vital and important ones in the enforcement of our government.

I desire to offer a few suggestions on behalf of the "forgotten man." Every day we are hearing from politicians and the representatives of the people who have invested their money in those securities which seem to have been demolished by the decision referred to. The phrasemakers have had much to say about the honor of the State and the inherent honesty of the people of Texas. Neither of which question do I belittle, criticize or hold in any but high esteem, but there is a question of deeper significance involved in this controversy than I have so far seen mentioned or discussed, and that is the fundamental, eternal and constitutional rights of the individual, and this, I conceive, is no inopportune time to bring this important question before the enlarged theatre of public discussion.

The fourteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States was adopted shortly after the termination of the Civil War, and proclaimed to be in force July 26, 1868, and it might not be inappropriate at this juncture to add that in the ratification of this amendment no single Democratic vote in the Legislature of any State in the Union was ever recorded in favor of its adoption, and State rights Democrats have sometimes advocated its repeal, not because they did not believe in the principle of government there involved, but because they questioned the right of the National Government to impose that obligation upon the States. They did not question the inherent soundness of the principle. They all expressed their admiration for it, but they thought that each State should have the authority to judge whether the principle of government involved should be enforced by the States or by the National Government, as exemplified in Texas by Sec. 19 of the Bill of Rights of the Constitution.

So much of the fourteenth amendment as is involved in this controversy reads as follows:

"No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

It is surprising that none of the comments on the recent case, to which my attention has been directed have been in commendation of the wisdom and importance of the vital principle of government proclaimed by that amendment.

Abstractly considered, it is the most profound and concrete of the great principle embodied in the Declaration of Independence, that all men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights. No rational and honest intellect, when consciously summoned to its determination could deny the beauty and the justice of the idea expressed. The principle is as eternal as human consciousness and no question of expedience can justify its denial or evasion. By its beneficient provisions the individual is protected alike from the fury of the mob and the tyranny of the majority. To deny its virtue is to deny the fundamental concept upon which all democratic forms of government must be founded. It is a trite saying that it is better for ninety and nine guilty men to escape than for one innocent man to be punished. Overzealous reformers frequently deny the wisdom of that aphorism, but it is, nevertheless, true because no rational mind can comprehend the enormity of the punishment of an innocent man. Likewise it is better that a hundred schemes of taxation should fail rather than that one person should be denied the equal protection of the law or denied his life, liberty or property without due process of law. The principle of law embodied in the fourteenth amendment knows no exception and should know none. This principle is the direct antithesis of the philosophy of Mussolini and the practices of the Bolsheviki.

I hold no brief to defend the Supreme Court of the United States. It needs no defence in this instance, because it has but enforced the salutary principles of the Constitution, and all efforts to evade or circumvent the far-reaching effect of its opinion will be as futile as a morning's dream. During the first five years after the ratification of the fourteenth amendment no case was presented under it, but up to 1911 (I have not had time to tabulate the cases since that date) 604 cases were heard and 423 of such cases affected property rights and four State Constitutions were affected, and some twenty-five of these were from Texas.

I had the misfortune in representing the losing side in the case of Moore vs. Commissioners' Court 175 S. W. 849, cited by the Supreme Court, in which every question determined in the Archer County case was specifically denied by all the courts in Texas to which it could be carried; and in that case the very questions determined in the Archer County case were presented and denied, and such decision was in direct conflict with the previous decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States in too many cases to enumerate, but notably among them was the celebrated Minnesota rate case, which was a noticeable precedent for the present case.

It has been suggested that the Legislature be called together to pass some law in ratification of the acts taken by parties under the law held constitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States, and this suggestion is on par with the Legislature itself in that it implies that the Legislature of Texas could amend the Constitution of the United States. Our Texas courts did all in their power to accomplish that result.

It has also been suggested that a Constitutional amendment should be submitted to the people of Texas to cure what is termed the evil of the situation now in hand, and that suggestion is not much an advancement over the other, inasmuch as even a constitutional amendment by the state of Texas could not change the Constitution of the United States, nor could it become retroactive and relate back so as to destroy the very rights guaranteed by the fourteenth amendment. This would be nothing more than attempting to have the majority override and deny the rights of the individual guaranteed to him by the fourteenth amendment. No government can be sustained or ought to be sustained in a land of liberty and of equal rights that permits or winks at a denial of the rights of one individual. The Legislature can not and ought not to be able to deny him the equal protection of the law, or to deprive him of rights, property, privileges or immunities, except by due process of law. A due process of law can not mean that a majority of citizens can subject the property of another to taxation for a purpose or an object from which he can derive no benefit, and without permitting him to be heard on such question, and it does not make any diffenence that if ninety and nine of his neighbors desire to impose that burden upon him, and he is the only one to be affected against his will. This is the forgotten man. His interest is paramount and if his rights can be evaded or denied in one instance, the rights of a thousand others may be evaded and denied in a thousand other instances until the exceptions would destroy the pre-eminent principle established by the fourteenth amendment.

But it is said that the people have invested their hard earnings in these illegal bonds and that they ought to be protected. As well might it be said that an innocent man who purchases my watch from the robber who has taken it from me at the point of a pistol should be protected in its possession because he innocently purchased it from the man who had no title and no right to deliver it to him.

I deny that the honor of the state is involved in this controversy. The people who purchased these bonds well knew the fourteenth amendment was in existence. They well know that the Supreme Court of the United States had already held in numerous cases, that such a law was invalid. They well knew that such question could not be determined until the Supreme Court of the United States had passed upon that question. They took their chances. They speculated on the ownership of these bonds. While every honest man regrets that any other person should lose through a mistake, yet all this is no reason and no justification for the denial of the sacred rights of the individual guaranteed to him by the fundamental law of the land, because you have no right to sacrifice the rights of one to ameliorate the condition or save from his folly a thousand others.

The people of the country are to be congratulated upon the fact that a great court has again maintained the rights of the individual as against the overwhelming onslaughter of the majority.

It is manifested that the people who have received the benefit of the proceeds of the sale of these bonds are morally bound for the repayment of the money. No honest man will deny that, but no device ought to be invented to require payment by those who should not have been unlawfully coerced in the first instance. The regretable present instance may be a salutary lesson to our law makers, the courts and the people.

Monday January 11 was the beginning of a series of class Basket Ball games to last through the season. The team that has the largest per cent of games won will be awarded with a loving cup.

The Seniors met the Juniors in a class battle. Some expert football players, such as guards and tackles were found on both teams, "Ox" Newton made several flying tackles to be blocked by Ed Thompson or John Jeter.

The game ended with the score standing 16 to 5 in favor of the Seniors.

This is the date on which they again play Roseckdale. "Fight Pirates" Yoe wishes you luck.

FRESHMAN NEWS

Friday night at the play "Touchdown" more of the Fish talent was shown during the intermissions. Miss Florence Atkinson took the leading part in a quartet and Mr. Herbert Freeman, a talented actor, was featured in a monologue. For several minutes Herbert became the stuttering son of a farmer and the inventor of a wonderful mechanical bathtub which would run out full of hot water at the mere push of a button. This was very humorous and everyone enjoyed it.

Ralph and John were separting when Ralph said;

"What's that?" asked John.

"What's that?"

Ezimonoce

Extravagance

You say there is no sense in Ezimonoce, there is no such word—well, you just read it backward and see how you should practice it—Economize.

Now, if you can have your set of curtains repaired, put in new celluloid windows, if torn in some places, have it patched for $1.50 to $2.50. That is Economy. But to throw them away, and buy a new set for double the price is Extravagance.

As the upholstry on your car is some worn, and looks shabby, have us put on a set of seat covers from $7.50 to $12.50. That is economy, but if for the above reason you think of trading it in for a new car that is Extravagance.

If you need a new center and glass in your Ford, back curtain, only $3.00 put on, or perhaps, you can make out with just a new center in your touring car top, $5. put on, why should you buy a whole new outfit for twice the expense? You readily see the difference between economy and extravagance.

And now as you commence plowing, if you have some good leather collars, Harness or Bridle that can be repaired, why should you be extravagant and buy all new?

And don't forget the shoes you are now wearing they are just getting comfortable, why put them aside, when for $1.25 you can have a new sole put on, sewed or tacked with A-1 leather?

Now speaking of the shoe economy, we might consider the extreme upper part as well, and consider the hats, say "The Ladies hats" how you can in so many ways economize there—

O, wait a minute, ladies, please excuse me, ladies, about the Hats, we wish to call your attention to Shoes—yes, Shoes. It is such a pleasure to have so many of our customeres come in and hear them say:

BUSINESS IS THE RICHEST FIELD IN THE WORLD FOR YOU

Rich or poor, young man or young woman, business is easily the richest field for you. Business offers you more and bigger opportunities to get ahead—to earn a big income—than all the trades and professions combined. Young people in business, with less than five years experience often earn more than college professors, lawyers, doctors, teachers and skilled workmen with twenty years experience. And five years is just a start.

It is in business where men and women quickly rise to high-salaried executive positions. Business is a game of highly developed brains. It offers clean healthy surroundings, dignified employment.

There are three reasons why you should train for business—any one of which is sufficient.

First, business requires that you be trained. Business is in a hurry—it cannot wait. Business has neither the time nor the inclination to train you. It expects you to be prepared from the beginning. It requires however a very short time to prepare if you enroll in the best commercial school.

Second, business can get trained workers. So, unless you are trained, there is no chance for you. Business goes to a business school to get its employees.

Third, an expert business training pays you rich dividends. It eliminates a long apprenticeship at small pay. It puts you in a position of trust and responsibility immediately. This position pays a good salary.And it offers unlimited opportunities for advancement. This training means five year's progress in one.

So, if you would get ahead in business, you must be trained. But you want to be safe and sure of your future; and you want to get the best of instructions; you want to create the biggest market for your services, therefore write to Tyler Commercial College, America's biggest business training school, Tyler Texas, for a free copy of their book, "Achieveing Success in Business." The book will tell you of the services such as no other school anywhere can give you.

To the People of Cameron:

In planning my canvas of the voters of Cameron it was my desire to see each and everyone and talk over my candidacy for city marshal with them, but this may not be possible on acccount of the limited time and the territory to be covered.

It is to those with whom I will probably not be able to speak personally that I address these words, to solicit your support and vote in the city primary on Tuesday February 9 for city marshal.

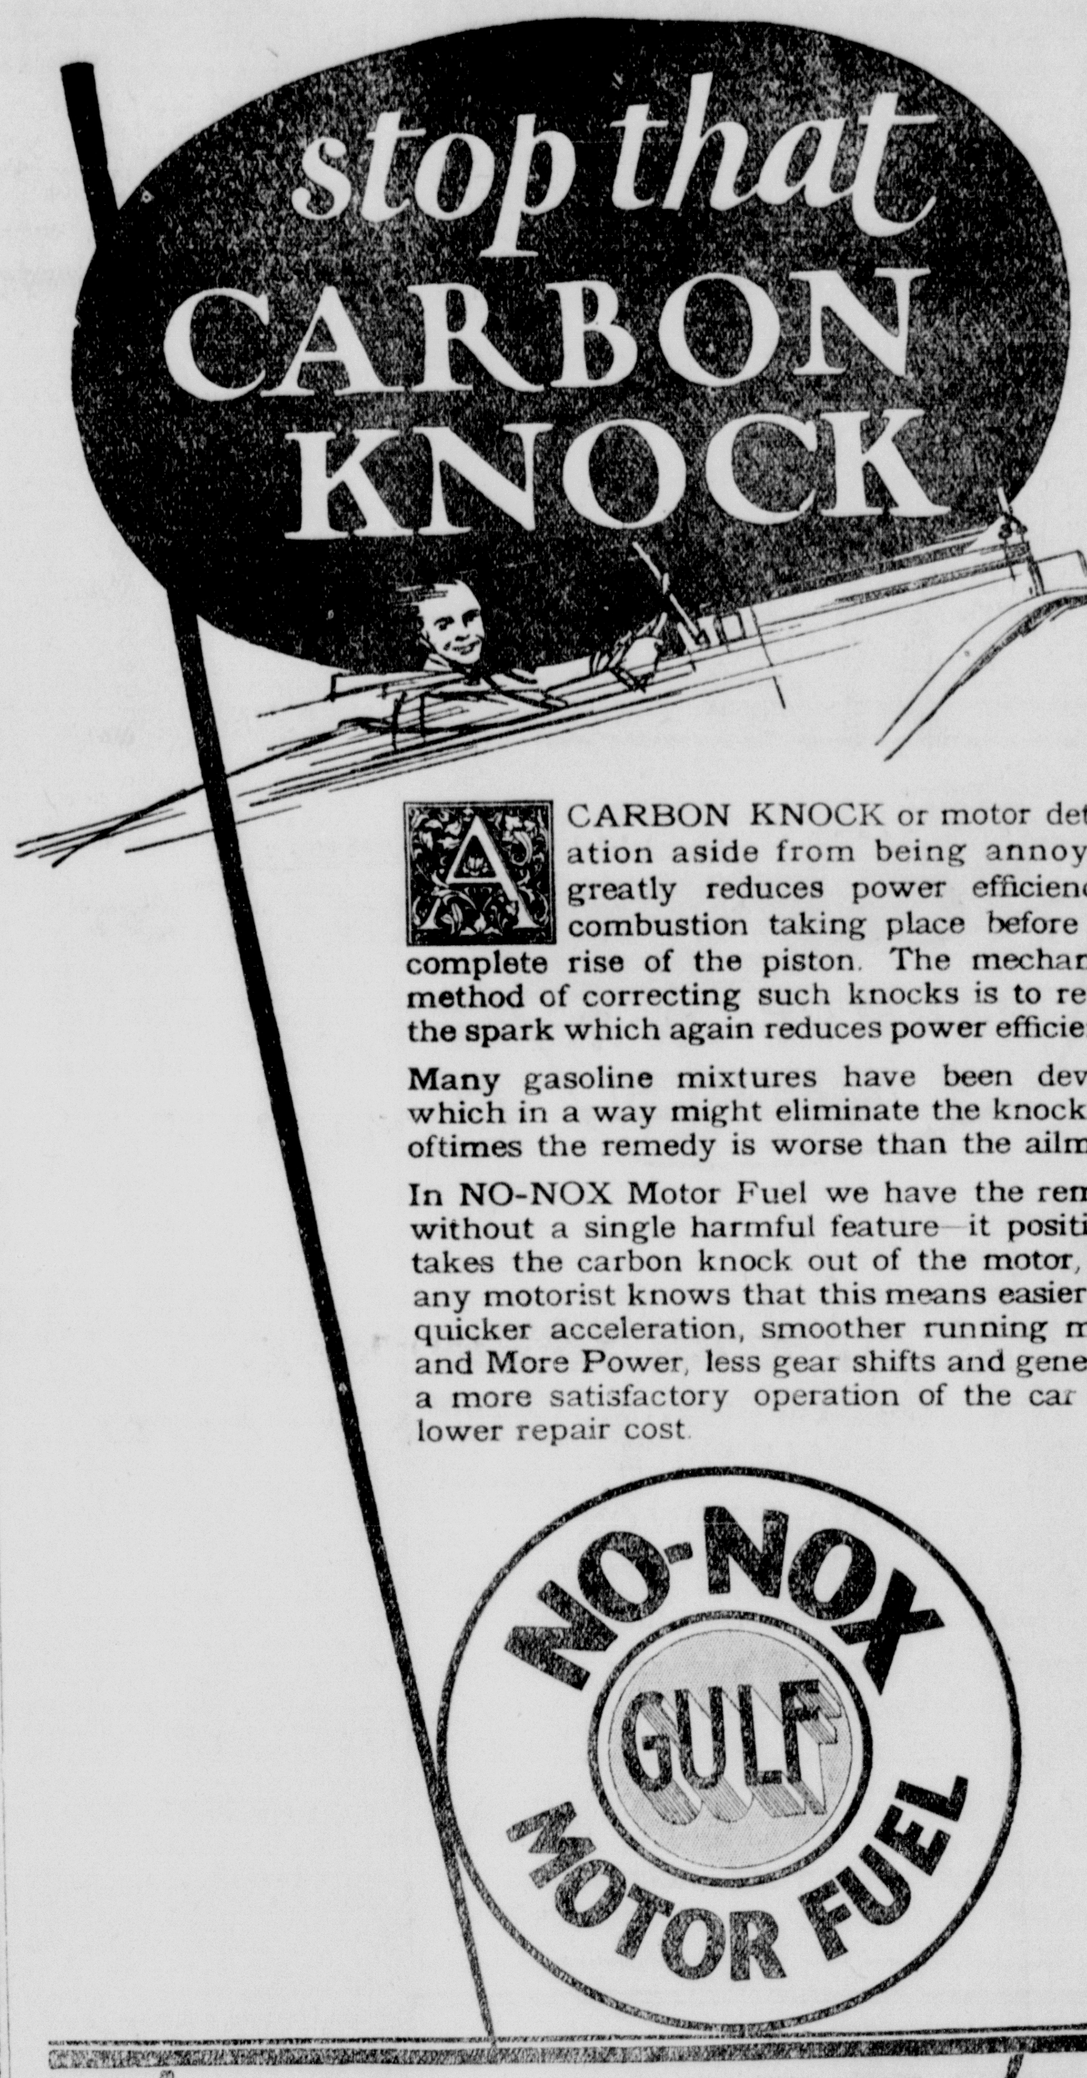
I will give the best possible service to the people in this office and pledge myself to perform the duties in such a way as to properly enforce all laws and diligently perform the duties of the office.

I earnestly solicit your vote and support and if for any reason I am unable to see you personally, kindly take this appeal as sincerely indicating my appreciation in advance of whatever you may be able to do in my behalf.

Yours very truly,

B. SLOCOMB

Candidate for City Marshal.



A CARBON KNOCK or motor detonation aside from being annoying greatly reduces power efficiency—combustion taking place before the complete rise of the piston. The mechanical method of correcting such knocks is to retard the spark which again reduces power efficiency.

Many gasoline mixtures have been devised which in a way might eliminate the knock but oftimes the remedy is worse than the ailment.

In NO-NOX Motor Fuel we have the remedy without a single harmful feature—it positively takes the carbon knock out of the motor, and any motorist knows that this means easier and quicker acceleration, smoother running motor and More Power, less gear shifts and generally a more satisfactory operation of the car at a lower repair cost.

Though no longer visible to our earthly sight, our departed loved ones live with us always. In the minds and hearts of those left behind whose faithful devotion enshrines them stainless forevermore their memories linger bright with celestial light and draws us up to them, away from earthly things, soothing us with divine hope that we shall meet again. We see only the perfect image of our absent ones. They remain embalmed in sainted memory—perfect anr serene forever.

We love to remember their overflowing love and devotion and the patient sacrifices made by these dear ones while on earth for our good and happiness.

When in the course of nature one sinks to rest, or when one perishes by the forces of the wind or storm or fire or from any of these natural courses, while the shock is great, Time, the great healer, brings a melancholy respite from grief, but when the Divine law is violated there is little comfort for the bereaved ones. Our sympathy to the grieving and our tender remembrance of the departed is all that can be offered. The many friends and relatives of one who recently lost his life say that his life was one of love and service for those he loved devotedly. His mother, Mrs. W. H. Garrett, his only living sister, Mrs. Annette Leach of Cameron and his only brother, Earl Laird of Sioux City, Iowa, were nearest to him, but he is survived by a wide family circle and by friends in Milam County where he was born and carefully reared by his mother and in Goose Creek where he had lived for several years and by business associates who loved, respected and honored him in life and in death.

His life is without a blemish. Ralph Laird, son of Frank Laird and his wife Ida Baggett Laird was born January 8, 1900 at the family home near Tracy. At an early age he joined the Methodist church at Tracy, and adheared to the tenets of that faith while he lived. Last summer he read the New Testament through twice and reiterated his adhearence to its teachings. He died January 2, 1926, when he was 26 years of age.

Rev. R. S. Marshall, pastor of the Methodist church of Cameron conducted the funeral service at the residence of his mother, Mrs. W. H. Garrett in Cameron and he was laid to rest beside his father in Murray Cemetery near Rockdale. Many beautiful floral offerings were placed upon his grave by loving hands.

MAKING FARM RECORDS TALK

By D. H. OTIS
Agricultural Director,
American Bankers Association.

Any one who has driven an automobile in a new country knows the value of a good road map. Farm accounts, properly kept, are a reliable road map to aid the farmer in directing the business management of his farm.

D. H. Otis

In farming communities where records have been kept in considerable number it is not uncommon to find differences in net income of $1,000 per farm between the average and the poorer farms of the community. It is also frequently found that there is a difference of over $1,000 between the average farm and a few of the better farms of the community. These differences of from $1,000 to $2,000 per farm in the net income are of vital concern to any farm in any community.

Where to Get the Facts

Farm records and inventories will reveal the reasons for these differences. The various colleges of agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture have a collection of records and farm management surveys from which they find it possible to construct standards or guides showing actual attainments under good systems of management. Figures of this kind are available to county agents and farmers who desire to use them. It is also possible to organize farm accounting groups in a community and with the help of the College of Agriculture to develop community standards showing what the average and what the better farms are doing. These standards or examples of what the more successful farms are doing, when handled in such a way as not to divulge the identity of the owners, are a wonderful help in pointing out to the less successful farmers the weak spots in the business management of their farms.

How to Use the Facts

The farmer who keeps a careful record of the factors relating to the business management of his farm is in position to compare his farm with the average and with the best in the volume of business, as number of acres, total investment, number of cows, total receipts and total expenses. He can check on his diversity of income by comparing his income from sale of cows, sale of livestock, livestock products and sales from miscellaneous sources. His quality of business can be studied by comparing such items as income per acre or income per cow, etc.

By such a process the farmer is in position to make his records talk to him and point out the weak and the strong features in his farm operation. There is no tax that we pay today that compares with the tax we pay for our ignorance. This is true on the farm as elsewhere. Farm records, including inventories from which it is easy to form financial statements, will do wonders in reducing the tax of ignorance and placing farm business on a business basis and inspire confidence in the farmer, himself and with all those with whom he deals.

BACK HURT BAD

Lady Had Severe Pains in Back and Got Very Weak.

"I think very highly of Cardui for I have had great benefit from its use," says Mrs. Cora Nicholson, of Ware Shoals, S. C.

"I was in bed quite a while. It looked like my strength would not come back, and I suffered with severe pains in my back whenever I would try to get up. Sometimes I would scream out, my back hurt me so bad.

"My husband got me some Cardui and I took two bottles. Very shortly after I began to take it I could notice I felt better. I began to get stronger. My appetite was improving and I could see that I was much better.

"After I had finished the second bottle I was able to be up and do all my own housework, so of course I think Cardui is fine. It is the best tonic for women that I know anything about, and I am glad to recommend it. Not long ago I told a lady friend of mine about it, and it did her as much good as it has done for me."
